-Central Freight Lines today launched a new LTL shipping service called CFL Mexico designed to make shipping to and from Mexico seamless, simple and secure.

-Central Freight Lines has partnered with Galher Transportation to facilitate border crossings and ensure final delivery via one tracking number door-to-door.

-Central Freight Lines says CFL Mexico is turning the complicated process of shipping freight across the border into an easy and seamless experience for customers on both sides of the border.

WACO, Texas, Feb. 7, 2020 – Central Freight Lines today announced a new less-than-truckload (LTL) shipping service to Mexico designed to make moving freight across the border simpler and more efficient. Called CFL Mexico, Central Freight Lines says the service will deliver fast, safe and secure crossings via a single invoice and tracking number door-to-door.

To ensure that CFL Mexico delivers a seamless experience to customers, Central Freight Lines has partnered with Galher Transportation. As a C-TPAT certified transfer agent with experience managing the movement of goods across the border, Galher will assist Central Freight Lines in navigating the hassles and pitfalls inherent in shipping both southbound and northbound freight.

“Cross-border shipping to and from Mexico has been a challenge for U.S. LTL shipping companies for quite some time now,” said Central Freight Lines Chief Operating Officer Michael Brennan. “Our new CFL Mexico service will mitigate, if not eliminate, those roadblocks for our customers, providing the kind of simple and reliable shipping experience they’ve come to expect from Central Freight Lines.”

In addition to simplified invoicing and full pricing transparency, Central Freight Lines says customers shipping with CFL Mexico will no longer have to worry about navigating through the maze of brokers, freight forwarders, inspections, pedimentos and customs regulations typically required when shipping to Mexico. The service provides Central Freight Lines customers a seamless experience door-to-door with complete visibility of their freight throughout the entire process.

“All of us at Central Freight Lines are excited about the launch of our new, simplified LTL service to Mexico,” said Central Freight Lines Sales and Marketing SVP Blake Burleson. “We feel CFL Mexico will provide our customers with a reliable, secure and cost-effective alternative to traditional shipping services to Mexico.”

With cross-border trade projected to continue to expand under the United States-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA), Central Freight Lines’ CFL Mexico service will bolster the 95-year-old company’s position as a leader in shipping to and from Mexico now and into the future.
